The Comprehensive Learning Goals and Outcomes

GOAL 1. KNOWLEDGE BASE IN PSYCHOLOGY

Overview

Students should demonstrate fundamental knowledge and comprehension of the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, historical trends, and empirical findings to discuss how psychological principles apply to behavioral phenomena. Students completing Foundation courses should demonstrate breadth of their knowledge and application of psychological ideas to simple problems; students completing a baccalaureate degree should show depth in their knowledge and application of psychological concepts and frameworks to problems of greater complexity.

Outcomes	Foundation Indicators	Baccalaureate Indicators
Students will: 1.1 Describe key concepts,	Students will: 1.1a Use basic psychological	Students will: 1.1A Use and evaluate theories principles, and overarching themes in psychology	terminology, concepts, and theories in psychology to explain behavior and mental processes	to explain and predict behavior, including advantages and limitations in the selected frameworks
	1.1b Explain why psychology is a science, with the primary objectives of describing, understanding, predicting, and controlling behavior and mental processes	1.1B Describe the complexity of the persistent questions that occupy psychologists' attention
	1.1c Interpret behavior and mental processes at an appropriate level of complexity	1.1C Analyze the variability and continuity of behavior and mental processes within and across animal species
	1.1d Recognize the power of the context in shaping conclusions about individual behavior	1.1D Examine the sociocultural and international contexts that influence individual differences (e.g., personality traits, abilities) and address applicability of research findings across societal and cultural groups
	1.1e Identify fields other than psychology that address behavioral concerns	1.1E Compare and contrast the nature of psychology with other disciplines (e.g., biology, economics, political science), including the potential contribution of psychology to interdisciplinary collaboration
Outcomes Students will:	Foundation Indicators Students will:	Baccalaureate Indicators Students will:
1.2 Develop a working knowledge of psychology's content domains	1.2a Identify key characteristics of major content domains in psychology (e.g., cognition and learning, developmental, biological, and sociocultural)	1.2A Compare and contrast psychology's major subdisciplines
	1.2b Identify principal methods and types of questions that emerge in specific content domains	1.2B Speculate about why content domains differ in the kinds of questions asked and the methods used to explore them
	1.2c Recognize major historical events, theoretical perspectives, and figures in psychology and their link to trends in contemporary research	1.2C Summarize important aspects of history of psychology, including key figures, central concerns, methods used, and theoretical conflicts

GOAL 2. SCIENTIFIC INQUIRY AND CRITICAL THINKING

Overview

The skills in this domain involve the development of scientific reasoning and problem solving, including effective research methods. Students completing Foundation-level courses should learn basic skills and concepts in interpreting behavior, studying research, and applying research design principles to drawing conclusions about behavior; students completing a baccalaureate degree should focus on theory use as well as designing and executing research plans.

GOAL 3. ETHICAL AND SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY IN A DIVERSE WORLD

Overview

The skills in this domain involve the development of ethically and socially responsible behaviors for professional and personal settings in a landscape that involves increasing diversity. Students completing Foundation-level courses should become familiar with the formal regulations that govern professional ethics in psychology and begin to embrace the values that will contribute to positive outcomes in work settings and in building a society responsive to multicultural and global concerns. Students completing a baccalaureate degree should have more direct opportunities to demonstrate adherence to professional values that will help them optimize their contributions and work effectively even with those who don't share their heritage and traditions. This domain also promotes the adoption of personal and professional values that can strengthen community relationships and contributions.

GOAL 4. COMMUNICATION

Overview

Students should demonstrate competence in writing, oral, and interpersonal communication skills. Students completing Foundation-level courses should be able to write a cogent scientific argument, present information using a scientific approach, engage in discussion of psychological concepts, explain the ideas of others, and express their own ideas with clarity. Students completing a baccalaureate degree should produce a research study or other psychological project, explain scientific results, and present information to a professional audience. They should also develop flexible interpersonal approaches that optimize information exchange and relationship development.

GOAL 5. PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Overview

The emphasis in this goal is on application of psychology-specific content and skills, effective self-reflection, project-management skills, teamwork skills, and career preparation. Foundation outcomes concentrate on the development of work habits and ethics to succeed in academic settings. The skills in this goal at the Baccalaureate level refer to abilities that sharpen student readiness for postbaccalaureate employment, graduate school, or professional school. These skills can be developed and refined both in traditional academic settings and extracurricular involvement. In addition, career professionals can be enlisted to support occupational planning and pursuit. This emerging emphasis should not be construed as obligating psychology programs to obtain employment for their graduates, but instead encourage programs to optimize the competitiveness of their graduates for securing places in the workforce.
